EXPLANATION OF BILLING

ACCOUNT NUMBER	Your account number is used for billing purposes. It allows us to access information pertaining to your account in our computer system.
SERVICE ADDRESS	The service address refers to the location of the electric service for which the bill has been generated.
READING PERIOD	The service dates show the date of the current meter reading and that of the previous reading.
NUMBER OF DAYS	This field refers to the number of days between meter readings. Pay careful attention to this field, as it can vary from month to month resulting in some fluctuation in your bills.
USAGE	The difference between your current meter reading and your previous meter reading determines your usage. Electric usage is measured in kilowatthours (KWH). The usage is then multiplied by the rate per kwh to determine a cost for the electricity used. This total is shown in the summary column.
DEMAND	Large general service only. A demand charge is made for the maximum quantity of energy used over one fifteen-minute interval each month. See rate schedules for details.
KW	KiloWatt. The peak usage of real power over one 15-minute interval each month.
PPA	The power cost adjustment is used to compensate for the fluctuating cost that we pay for power. Your PPA charge or credit (-) is calculated by multiplying the usage figure by the current month's PPA rate.
BASE CHARGE	The minimum amount that will be charged for the month, even if there is no usage, and will be based upon customer class and the rate in effect at the time.
SALES TAX	Business only. State regulations require us to collect sales tax from businesses whose use of electricity is primarily for non-manufacturing purposes (see state guidelines for details to obtain tax-exempt status).
DISCOUNT POLICY	A 10% discount shall be granted on all current residential and commercial energy rates for all payments received at 197 North Main Street by the discount date. No discounts are allowed on the fuel cost portion or minimum bills. All bills must be paid in full to receive discount.
